The region's longest-running business publication

Black Country Chamber of Commerce is the voice and the champion of the regional business community. It works with its members to create an environment that is conducive to business success, improving performance through training, information, networking and support.

The Chamber's membership magazine, Prosper, sits at the heart of this work and is a popular and greatly appreciated membership benefit. Edited by the team at the Chamber, it offers an unparalleled look at the business world through the eyes of the Black Country Chamber and its membership, and has set the benchmark for quality business publications.

Each issue contains focused spotlight features covering key hot topics affecting the business community, written by authoritative voices drawn from across the region and further afield. Whether it is considering sustainability and the climate change agenda, cyber security, HR issues, tax advice or the aftermath of Brexit and its impact on trade, Prosper has the insights and information the business community needs to read. It is the Black Country's go-to source for business news, advice and features.

Prosper is distributed direct to Chamber members, with copies also made available to selected non-members and circulated to prominent places and people around the region, including MPs and other key stakeholders.

Published quarterly by Chamber Media Services, an experienced business-to-business publisher, Prosper is a vital part of the Chamber's communications portfolio.
